September 2019

It seems that summer has flown past this year, with its remarkable variations in weather patterns. I was interested in an interview with farmers on the TV recently, who described this summer as a very wet one, which must be true when one considers the horrors that such places as Whaley Bridge endured and the deluges that we experienced here only a few of weeks ago. Yet we also have had some wonderful spells of beautiful weather. Will you remember this summer as fine or wet?

Now it is back to school with the excitements of the new term to look forward to, as we turn our thoughts to the approach of autumn and eventually winter. You will see that Ann Tarlton's article in this month's edition focuses on this, particularly as the autumn fruits, warmed by the period of fine weather, have appeared quite early and brought with them happy memories for her of times long ago.

We hope that you feel refreshed by the summer break and that you will enjoy this edition of the Villager.

Letter From Avening Parish Council Leader

As a Parish Council team we sometimes want to do too much, and as a result we don't have enough time in our meetings to cover everything we want to. This means some projects and issues don't get sufficient air time and seem to take ages to progress. All very frustrating! Following a suggestion from Richard, we're going to have a look at the agenda to see if we can spread the regular (but dull and unproductive) items on a rota so we don't cover them in every meeting – this should free up valuable space to progress more projects and speed up decisions. We have also agreed to some delegated spending power so that progress on smaller items isn't held up having to wait for a full meeting to take place.

At the playing field you will see the resurfaced perimeter path making good progress, and if it hasn't started already when this is published, the new fence around the play equipment will be installed imminently.

I was very disappointed to be told about the damage to the zip wire and the swing basket. The latter has been repaired, but the zip wire will have to be completely replaced. Some of the cost may be covered by insurance, but it will still affect our ability to provide additional equipment. We have some good leads on the alleged vandals, and our PCSO will be knocking on doors to 'get help with her enquiries'. This is a small community, so there will always be someone who sees something and knows the people concerned, but parents – please be aware of what your children are doing! Ultimately there are only limited funds available, and if things keep being damaged we'll soon end up with an empty field.

In the hall we're hoping to reinstate the badminton court as we think this is a simple improvement which will increase sporting facilities in the village. We are also organising a first aid course on  $5^{th}$  October – contact the clerk if you are interested in attending either the morning or afternoon session.

We are suffering from a lot of Ash Die Back in the area, and I have noticed a number of dead and weakened trees – anyone old enough to remember the great storms of 1977 will remember the carnage caused when hundreds of Elm were blown down. This could easily happen again with Ash, so could all land owners please take advice from experts, and take them down if necessary. We have commissioned a survey of the woodland around the field, and recently prompted Gatcombe to fell a number of infected trees behind the playgroup.

On the roads, the Nags Head Lane towards the golf club will be closed  $16^{th} - 29^{th}$ , and the small lane opposite Rectory Lane will be closed for more wall works from  $16^{th}$  September to  $25^{th}$  October

On a personal note, I'm very much looking forward to my youngest daughter Emma's wedding in a few days; and becoming a grandfather soon after (hopefully) when Shelley welcomes her first child.

Borrowing and Saving – the Gloucestershire Credit Union

In 2013 the Archbishop of Canterbury (Justin Welby) criticised payday lenders, and charged credit unions to compete with the likes of Wonga. One outcome of his was the development of the Gloucestershire Credit Union.

Retired banker Geoff Shaw who is Chairman of the Board explains: "We are responsible lenders and help people from all walks of life, especially those who might otherwise be financially excluded – people like a single mum whose washing machine has broken down. We don't lend into the debt spiral – only to people that we consider will both willing and able to repay. We are a non-profit co-operative, owned by the members, whose savings we lend out, much like a building society. The ethical element of credit unions is very important to me and to our members."

Gloucestershire Credit Union is a community financial co-operative, helping anyone who lives and/or works in the county to build their financial security and better face the future.

It offers fair, flexible and responsible savings accounts and loans and because it is local, it can get to know its members, putting a friendly face on finance.

It operates just within Gloucestershire and, by saving or borrowing with the GCU, money will be doing good at the same time through supporting the local economy and helping other people within Gloucestershire's communities.

Everyone who has a savings account or loan with Gloucestershire Credit Union becomes a member, and all members have a share of the organisation's profit at the end of each financial year. They can even have a say in how the credit union is run.

Gloucestershire Credit Union offers a responsible, reliable alternative to the high street banks and similar bodies. All members' savings are protected by the Financial Services' Compensation Scheme.

To find out more about saving with or borrowing from GCU go to www.gloscreditunion.org.uk or phone 01452 422712.

Avening W.I.

WI campaigns are about changing things for the better and tackling the issues that matter to members. Every year members are asked for suggestions for future campaigns and this year one of our Avening members has suggested an important issue, which we have now sent as a resolution to the Gloucestershire Federation:

Stop PIP re-assessments for people with long term conditions which will not change over time.

Personal Independence Payment is a welfare benefit in the United Kingdom that is intended to help with the extra costs of living for those with a long-term health condition or a disability, and is a benefit for people who may need help with daily activities or getting around.

The new arrangements insist that people must be re-assessed regularly but this causes great distress and worry for the people who qualify for the benefit and their carers, especially if the person involved has a condition that has been diagnosed and will not change over time.

We need to campaign to stop these pointless re-assessments for long term conditions, to ensure that carers and their loved ones feel secure in the knowledge that they will receive the support they need, for as long as it is needed.

Having sent in our resolution, we were informed that another Gloucestershire WI had entered a similar one and it was suggested that we work together to give more weight to the subject. We therefore contacted Mitcheldean WI, who were pleased to join forces with us. We usually have a social meeting in August, so we invited Mitcheldean members to join us for skittles and a ploughman's lunch in the Social Centre. We all had a very enjoyable afternoon, much appreciated by our guests. We will now need to wait until later in the year to find out if our joint resolution has been shortlisted by the National Federation.

On Thursday 12th September at 7.30pm, Avening WI will hear an illustrated talk presented by Neil Medland entitled 'Recollections of Five Years in the Choir of Westminster Abbey .....and beyond'. As a former young chorister in the Abbey choir in the 1960s, Neil will provide an insight into life in that great place, essentially unchanged over the years, and for whom choristership has been no less than a life-changing experience. The English choral tradition is the envy of the world and the standards have never been higher at least in our Cathedrals and Abbeys. He will include how his time as an Abbey chorister has had an influence on his life which has led to many activities in the field of choral music. The talk will conclude with a pictorial guide of Westminster Abbey, but without the thousands of visitors who tour the Abbey every day. Anyone who would like to join us for the evening will be very welcome.

Avening Playgroup

We have been getting ready to start the new term with a smarter playgroup building and have made good use of the time during the summer holiday to complete some much needed and overdue maintenance and repairs. The outside walls of the playgroup have been sanded down and a couple of coats of paint have been added.

Parents and members of the committee worked hard to clear the playroom floor of all the equipment and resources that were on it. We had to find room to store all the items, many of which were stored under tarpaulin in the under- cover area outside. The floor was then sanded, varnished and all the items were put back in place in time for the new term starting on Wednesday 4th September.

We greatly appreciate and thank:

- Everyone who gave up their time to help during the summer holiday;
- Everyone who has helped and supported the various fundraising events;
- The organisations who have donated money to the playgroup which has enabled us to complete the work;
- Most recently the Church of England Education Fund and the Mark Townsend Charitable Trust

We wish all the children who left playgroup in July all the best as they start their new adventure at 'big school' and look forward to welcoming the children, and their families, who are starting playgroup this month.

If you would like any more information about our lovely playgroup or to reserve a place for your child, please call us on

- Playgroup will start back on Wednesday 4th September.

Wild about Avening

A few months ago as I stopped to look at the Avening Stream where it passes through Sandford Leaze, I was delighted by the sight of a Dipper, bobbing up and down on a midstream boulder. Described as a 'giant, barrel-chested wren with a gleaming white breast' this bird is easily recognisable, although not regularly observed, along our watercourses.

Dippers are a great indicator of water quality as they feed mainly on aquatic invertebrates (animals with no backbone) which only thrive in water of good quality. With a remarkable ability to walk underwater, against the current, Dippers search for mayfly nymphs, caddisfly larvae and small fish like minnows. They are able to see underwater thanks to a transparent third eyelid that is known as a 'nicitating membrane'. This is like having built in googles!

These birds are monogamous, with pairs bonding for one or more breeding seasons. Nest sites are crevices in natural stone, walls or bridges. Eggs are laid between March and May and are incubated by the female for about 16 days. The young birds fledge (become able to fly) at around 20 days after hatching but spend another 11-18 days being fed by their parents until they become fully independent.

Dippers are on many of our local streams. I have since seen them in Nailsworth on the stream by the bus station. See if you can see one next time you are out.

Nature Notes

Lack of bird song: I always find this time of year a bit disconcerting as the birds fall silent and seemingly disappear. They are, however, still around but they are moulting. They are shedding the feathers worn out over the breeding season and replacing them with new, warm feathers for winter and during this time they are more vulnerable to predators so they keep silent and hide away.

Our garden hedgehog box is currently occupied by around 20 slow-worms! These brilliant reptiles look like snakes but are actually 'legless lizards' (no, not drunk!). If they are caught by a predator they are able to shed their tail which continues to twitch and distracts their predator while they make a quick exit!

If you have any interesting, local wildlife encounters then please let us know and we will publish them in this feature.

Recycling Tips

The UK government estimate that we generate about 177 million tonnes of waste every year in England alone. There are several ways we can help reduce the amount of rubbish which ends up in local landfill.

- Please keep all of your empty crisp packets as well as any old toothbrushes, empty toothbrush tubes, toothbrush packaging etc, and drop them at Avening School. Last term we recycled several kilograms of crisp packets and toothbrushes saving them from the landfill and raising money for the school too.
- Tesco, Tetbury is recycling plastic bags (bread bags, frozen vegetable bags, any bag with 'Can be recycled with plastic bags' on it); pet food pouches; biscuit wrappers; and sweet wrappers. There is a container near the main doors.
- Tesco, Tetbury: Tetrapak and paper coffee cups can be recycled in the container in the Tesco carpark just after you turn in (before the zebra crossing)
- Pens: Any brand of pen, marker pen, highlighter pen and fluid correction pot can be dropped at the Avening community café on a Tuesday for recycling.

Avening School

Start of term at Avening School

School term iwill begin on Wednesday 4th September, when all parents and carers of playgroup and school children are invited to come into the back of the church for tea and coffee, tissues, cake and chat.

For some, it will have been a difficult morning, for others a bit of a relief to be able to think to the end of a sentence.

Pop in any time from 8:30 after school drop-off, and let us cosset you. The coffee's great, and there will be toys on a carpet for younger children. From 8:30 til 10:30am.

Alex Adcock's article for the School will appear in our next issue, when she is confident that she will have a huge amount of exciting material to share with our readers.

You are invited to a Dementia Awareness Session Monday 16th September 7.30 pm Holy Cross Church

This evening is an opportunity to raise awareness and learn something more about dementia and the small ways we can all help and support people to live well in the community with dementia. The session will be friendly, fun and informative - an opportunity to learn some interesting facts about dementia and with time for questions. It will aim to help you to understand how someone with dementia might perceive the world and help you have a better understanding of why they might be doing and saying things we don't understand.

The evening will be led by John Colquhoun, a volunteer who has trained as a Dementia Friends Champion. 'Dementia Friends' is an Alzheimer's Society led initiative. It aims to increase dementia awareness and change the way we think, talk and act about dementia.

There will be refreshments on arrival at 7.30 pm and the session will start at 7.45 pm

No need to book – please just come!

Letters to the Editors

Dear Editors,

In your August issue, Gerald South expresses concern for the dearth of sporting opportunities for teenagers in Avening and Cherington. Yet we are fortunate to live in an environment that offers a whole host of sporting opportunities within a 20 minute bike ride's radius: for example, cricket, cycling, football, golf, riding, rugby and tennis. Many of our villagers are members of the Minchinhampton Sports Association, and a several of us help to run it. However, if Gerald wants to replicate Rochester Cathedral and offer golf in the Nave, I could unearth a few clubs from the garage!

Yours faithfully,

Riley Reminisces

The photograph on the cover of The Villager last month brought back memories of the forges that existed in Avening and the men that operated them.

The first forge I recall was in Star Lane and was an extension of the house where the family lived. It was owned and worked by a Mr Javez Powell in the early 1900s and continued until the late 1930s.

I am sure you have all heard or sung the Harvest hymn, "We plough the fields and scatter." Often the plough and agricultural machinery would be in need of repair and the horses that provided the power to draw them required shoeing from time to time and were one of the mainstays of that establishment. In later days Javez was succeeded by his son Fred who took over the business and many a time I was required to operate the bellows of the forge, with so many farms in the area (Church Farm, Star Farm, Longmans Barn Farm are but a few) providing work for the local "smithy", which was seldom silent.

The second forge was a larger establishment on New Inn Lane, now called The Bannut Tree. Whereas the first forge was operated by a blacksmith, the second one was operated by three brothers, Reuben, Frank and Charles Maller, who were known as 'Blacksmiths and Wheelwrights'. This meant that the firm could repair wooden wheels and manufacture new ones, requiring a great deal of skill.

I will endeavour to give you a short insight into the construction of a new wheel. First the hub was manufactured and a series of tenon joints created to accept the wheel spokes as required. The spokes were made and fitted to the hub. To obtain the circumference of the wheel, a series of radiused segments were made and were fitted, jointed and primed to complete the wheel. Wood was not particularly good for the wear and tear of the new wheels, so it was then prepared to have the tyre fitted. Unlike today, the tyre consisted of an iron/steel band manufactured to a slightly smaller size than the wooden wheel. A fire was lit and the ring of steel would be heated almost to red hot temperatures. With the aid of tongs the wheelwright dropped the ring (now expanded by heat) over the edges of the wheel. When in place it was doused with buckets of cold water to cool it and the resulting shrinking would hold the whole assembly in place. The work was intricate, hot and precise.

This type of work continued until WWI accelerated the use of the solid-tyred wheel and the coming of the pneumatic tyre fitted to the vehicles of today. Unfortunately most of the forges have not continued to this day but horse owners still employ the services of a mobile blacksmith.

Crop Swap at Avening Community Café

Some of the green-fingered Avening residents have been generously sharing their surplus seeds, seedlings and more recently, produce, with visitors to the Tuesday morning Community Cafe. When it comes to vegetables, and flowers, the exciting thing is that often the more you pick, the more they produce... nature is a truly wonderful thing!

Following the Green initiative of the cafe, the Crop Swap hopes to create a regular table overflowing with delicious, consumable, home produced fruit, veg, flowers, chutneys and jams - anything really that has been lovingly grown or made that is surplus to your requirements but that would be enjoyed by someone else. If you would like to contribute to the Crop Swap table please bring it to the cafe on Tuesday mornings, or if you can't get there yourself we will try to arrange collection on the Monday night. Anything on the table is offered freely but donations into the Community Cafe 'Watering Can' will be gratefully received and given to a charity which will be announced at the cafe's birthday celebrations in November.

If you have any queries, ideas or comments please get in touch!

Autumn Already?

Today, 8th August, I picked my first blackberry. Not very large but very sweet and judging by the amount of berries I saw, this promises to be a bumper season. All this took me back to many years ago when, as a little girl, my grandfather and I used to go for long walks across the fields. In those days we always seemed to have four proper seasons and at no time can I remember ever picking blackberries in early August.

September was very much the beginning of Autumn which is when my grandparents used to come down from Scotland to stay with us in Berkshire and it's thanks to my grandfather that, on our long walks, not only did we pick lots of blackberries but he taught me the names of wild flowers, plants and birds. He was a fount of knowledge on anything to do with nature and wild life and living where we did we were surrounded by an amazing amount of open fields and woodlands, all bursting with life.

Not that we're devoid of wonderful sights and sounds of nature here - just the other day a family of half-grown hares suddenly got up in front of me, their long, pointed ears unmistakeable even at their tender age.

The garden, too, has had its share of butterflies this year and it's all thanks not so much to my grandfather but to my lovely Geoffrey who, as a boy, used to collect butterflies and therefore taught me names like the colourful Red Admirals and Peacocks and the little brown Fritillaries that swarm all over the lavender bushes. But, best of all - and Geoffrey would have been overjoyed to see them - are the beautiful Cotswold Blues. Not at all common but this year seems to have brought them back to our gardens.

So, in spite of our rather mixed-up weather patterns, nature just gets on with what nature does best. Gives us all a bit of normality to keep us going and long may she continue to do so.

Success with the Big Screen – A Seaside Special – September Look-Ahead

What a summer! We laughed, we cried*...we celebrated, we worked hard....we made new friends, we tried new ventures....and that was just at our first Movie Matinee and Popcorn Picnic. The Tuesday Cafés in August were no less entertaining with the start of our summer-long produce swap, the first teenagers joining our volunteer teams, a fabulous story-time courtesy of Alex Adcock and to round it all off, a Seaside Special Café with absolutely no need to be 'beach body ready'!

Our first collaboration with the Avening Cinema Club was a sell-out - and a great success. Over 60 people came along to a screening of The Greatest Showman at the Memorial Hall, with free popcorn, pick 'n' mix sweets, and a picnic thrown in for good measure: all the ingredients needed for a top-notch matinee performance (Hugh Jackman didn't disappoint either). We are already talking about a second collaboration with the Cinema Club, so watch this space!

At the beginning of the month we received the very welcome news from Councillor Richard Morgan that Cotswold District Council had awarded us a small grant to run one-off Cafés (including the Movie Matinee) over the coming year to ensure that we can work even harder for everyone who lives in Avening, Nags Head and Cherington. A Saturday pop-up Café and a Quiet Café for people who prefer a calm environment (particularly those with mental health issues and their carers) are being planned for later in the year and we continue to welcome good ideas.

As well as these special events, we continue to expand the regular features at the Café. Every week customers can now take their pick from produce grown by Avening's gardeners, bring a range of waste products for recycling (including crisp packets, toothpaste tubes and packaging, batteries and biros), and pick up a book – as well as enjoying a decent cuppa, home-baked cakes and the chance to chat to neighbours and friends. In September Atlanta Rayner is repeating her popular and well-regarded Writing for Fun session and we're running our second Community Sweepstake for the Rugby World Cup. Our regular Knit and Natter get-together and a big book swap bonanza are planned for September 10th and best of all our bakers are going to town with free cupcakes on September  $3^{rd}$  to celebrate the end of the holidays.

So many people worked so hard over the summer to make sure our Café was a great place for all those on school holidays as well as for our wonderful regular customers that it is impossible to mention everyone here. But perhaps it is appropriate, as the holidays draw to a close, to mention our four teenage volunteers: Lola Rayner, Izzy Neville (visiting from Abergavenny), and Tom and Anna Chappell. They were simply brilliant, we loved working with them and we hope to see them behind the counter again sometime!

Dying without a Will. Now that's a real tragedy.

No-one likes the thought of dying, so it's hardly surprising that almost 3 out of 5 UK adults don't have a valid Will (source: www.unbiased.co.uk 2010). Yet having one is one of the most important arrangements you can make during your lifetime.

My name is David Martin. I live in Nailsworth and I'm the local consultant for Steele Rose & Co - one of the UK's Premier Professional Home Visit Will Writers, After 22 years serving my country in the RAF, I have spent the last 28 years of my life professionally advising my clients on all personal financial matters and specialising in Wills.

Writing a Will is easier and cheaper than you think. It also ensures that your wishes are carried out simply and efficiently - causing the minimum of anguish for those you leave behind. If you would like to discuss your Will arrangements, redraft an existing Will, Lasting Powers of Attorney, or other associated legal services, at a mutually convenient time in the comfort and privacy of your own home, please contact me:

What is U3A?

The University of the Third Age (U3A) is a nationwide organisation based on local groups providing opportunities for retired and semi-retired people to come together and develop their interests.

We're not a university in the traditional sense. We don't study for qualifications. We just enjoy taking part and meeting people.

What do we mean by the third age? It's the time after you have finished working or raising a family, following your first age of childhood dependence and your second age of full-time work or parental responsibility. This is when you can pursue your interests at leisure and really make the most of life.

It's all voluntary – members share their knowledge and experience with others in interest groups, running informal activity sessions covering a wide range of subjects and activities.

There are learning opportunities, outdoor pursuits, social events and outings on offer at a typical U3A, including anything from bridge to gardening to theatre trips.

We have more than 950 U3As throughout the UK with more than 350,000 members, and we're growing fast!
